

I have questions concerning information required for both historical and quarterly reports.

1. The one time historical report requires production information for the previous (10) years; make, model, model year and service brake type. Is this correct and if so how should we handle missing information such as service brake type or possibly all information of some units? Do we submit partial information or leave those units out?

2. I would ask the same questions concerning the warranty and field reports required as far as missing information?

3. Concerning the field reports, if they do not fall in any of the listed categories we are not required to list them?

4. Again concerning field reports, we are to submit in conjunction with require data full reports of each entry. What format will be required? Will there be option for more than one?

This last question is concerning small businesses who have been classified as large manufacturers by NHTSA definition.

5. What is a manufacture to do if they either have no internet capabilities or have nothing more than a regular phone line service in their area? I understand that they cannot submit their report by mail.
